Peroni

Peroni is a leading company in the production and sale of natural food products, the main among which is honey soufflé. Peroni products also include honey in the traditional pure form, candies, tea, coffee, spices, soap, candles and gift sets.

The main principle that guides the company in its work is the creation of a natural product with a unique line of flavors and aesthetic design of the package. Peroni is among the five leading companies in its sector on the Russian market. Today Peroni products are presented in more than 700 tea boutiques, coffee stores, culinary studios, online stores, supermarkets not only in Russia but also abroad. Last year the company launched a mini franchise, as well as its own café-boutique Peroni in Dubai. For 7 years of operation Peroni products have won 11 awards Product of the Year, two grand prix as Innovative Product, received the international award on London Honey Awards. The vector for the natural product also allowed the company to receive the Ecological Safety certificate, the Healthy Food award and many other awards and diplomas.

About product

The company provides a wide range of products with carefully formulated and designed packages that allow the product to be used in a variety of formats, from gifts to use in the HoReCa sector. The product line includes cream and pure honey soufflés, tea, coffee, cocoa, sugar, tea and coffee spices, chocolates in honey powder, ecological honey soaps and candles, gift and corporate gift sets. The company is constantly in search of interesting and unusual flavor combinations. For example, the collection of honey-soufflé, as a rule, includes about 20 different tastes.

Honey-soufflé production

The whole cycle of honey-soufflé production takes about 14 hours. Honey is long kneaded in special blending containers together with dried berries, fruits, nuts (whole or crushed), spices and herbal extracts in a certain mode, then kept at low temperatures, thus forming and fixing the resulting delicate consistency. In this case, all the useful properties of honey are preserved: the process of manufacturing the product is strictly controlled by specialists, so as not to expose it to high temperatures.

After that, the resulting consistency is maintained in special cooling chambers, where it just gets a soufflé-like consistency.

When drying berries and fruits, the company also uses the most delicate freezing or lyophilization technology to preserve their benefits, taste, aroma and color as much as possible.

Innovative technologies are used to create any Peroni product. In production the company uses only modern European equipment, approved and certified by international technologists. Specialists strictly monitor the quality of raw materials and products at all stages of production and packaging. Even in production of soap and candles, the company does not use ready-made soap bases and foams. Peroni soap is created manually with the addition of honey and natural oils, which will suit consumers even with the most sensitive skin.
